Restrictions remain on hospital visits

SOUTHPORT and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust bosses say that visits will continue to be restricted for families and friends, despite an end to Covid rules from this Thursday (February 24).

Hospital visits were banned at the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic in spring 2020, but later reintroduced in certain circumstances at many hospitals.

The government is now removing many of the pandemic restrictions that affect people's everyday lives – but curbs on hospital visiting will remain in place.

Dr Kate Clark, medical director at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust, said: "We know from conversations we have with patients' families how distressing it can be not being able to visit freely.

"However, many of our patients are frail and vulnerable, and we must continue taking precautions to keep them safe while the potential for Covid infection remains."

Arrangements can be made for visits by appointment to some patients who need direct support from family and friends.

Support visiting to a general ward is usually limited to one person per patient or two people where the patient is at the end of their life.

Separate arrangements are in place for visits to the maternity and the children's wards at Ormskirk Hospital and the North West Regional Spinal Injuries Centre at Southport Hospital.

Other requests to visit should be discussed with the nurse or matron in charge. Individual visiting plans can be supported in exceptional circumstances.

Dr Clark added: "We continue to see deaths of patients with Covid.

"The threat from this deadly disease has not gone away. We must learn to live with Covid and still protect those at risk."

HAZARDOUS WASTE INCINERATOR PLAN SPARKS CONCERNS

Facility would treat thousands of tonnes of medical items each year

Report by Henry James

PLANS to build a 24-hour medical waste incinerator plant in West Lancashire have brought opposition from residents over concerns about health and pollution.

Proposals to build the facility at an industrial estate off Stopgate Lane in Simonswood - which would burn thousands of tonnes of medical waste per year - have been submitted to Lancashire County Council.

The company behind the plans, Culzean W2E Limited, state that it would be a 'high temperature treatment' facility for the management of medical wastes.

According to plans, the plant would treat up to 3,650 tonnes a year of hazardous waste, most of it from medical sites.

The proposals include the construction of a building to house the main thermal-processing equipment.

Stopgate Lane, Simonswood

An ancillary plant will include a heat exchanger, pollution control plant, flare and a 14-metre exhaust flue.

The plans state that the benefits of this proposal will include providing a 'facility to deal with local medical wastes which would otherwise have to be transported over longer distances, increasing sustainability of management of a local waste stream.'

Suspected loan shark couple arrested after police raid properties

Report by Henry James

A COUPLE have been arrested on suspicion of illegal money lending and money laundering following an operation in Skelmersdale and Liverpool.

Officers seized cash, documentation and electronic devices during searches of properties in the Digmoo area of Skelmersdale and in Liverpool.

A 50-year-old woman and a 65-year-old man were taken into custody for questioning. They have since been released under investigation pending further enquiries.

The England Illegal Money Lending Team worked in partnership with officers from Lancashire Constabulary, Merseyside Police, Lancashire County Council and Liverpool City Council Trading Standards to execute warrants at two addresses on Wednesday, February 16.

Tony Quigley, head of the Illegal Money Lending Team said: "Illegal money lending will not be tolerated and we will continue to work with our partners to take action against those who blight our communities in this way."

"If you have been offered a cash loan, threatened when you couldn't pay, had your bank card taken from you as security or if what you owe keeps growing even though you are making payments, then you may well have been bitten by a loan shark."

"If you, or anyone you know, has experienced any of these things or has any knowledge of loan shark activities then contact our team in complete confidence. We will help you escape the clutches of these ruthless criminals."

County Councillor Peter Buckley, cabinet member for community and cultural services at Lancashire County Council, said: "Illegal money lending is a hidden problem which has a terrible impact on often vulnerable people, leaving them in great financial difficulty.

"It is a crime and not something we will tolerate in Lancashire. We will continue to work closely with the Illegal Money Lending Team and the police to tackle this problem."

Anyone with concerns about illegal money lending can contact the Stop Loan Sharks 24/7 Helpline in confidence on 0300 555 2222 or access support online at www.stoploansharks.co.uk. Live Chat is available on the website between 9am and 5pm, Monday to Friday.

Police to mark stone flags at churches in bid to prevent thefts

Scheme launched after spate of incidents at churchyards in county

Report by Henry James

POLICE are offering churches the use of protective marking equipment to help prevent York stone flags being stolen from churchyards in the county.

It follows a spate of thefts of the valuable stone flags from churchyards in the county.

As reported in the Champion last week, the latest site to be targeted was Ormskirk Parish church when more than 20 stone flags were stolen on the night of Monday, February 15.

The offenders are believed to have got away in a high-top Ford Transit van.

The incident came just weeks after more than 100 stone flags worth thousands of pounds were stolen from a churchyard in Halsall.

Ormskirk Police are urging people to report suspicious activity and are offering protective marking equipment to churches which can be used to securely mark highly desirable York stone flags.

A police spokesperson said: “We are investigating several high value thefts of York stone from churches around the county.

“York stone is very high value and thousands of pounds worth have been taken from each establishment, each within the space of half an hour.

“We have been looking at ways we can protect our religious establishments and have sourced some protective marking equipment, which we can use to securely mark the York stone flags.

“We will be visiting as many places as we can in the coming weeks.”

Any religious establishment interested should email 1840@lancashire.police.uk or 7768@lancashire.police.uk.

York stones were stolen from outside the church door of Ormskirk Parish Church

The spokesperson added: “Some of these places have very little in the way of CCTV and lighting, especially in graveyards.

“We need the support of our community to help us detect crime and I urge people to be vigilant around churches, particularly in hours of darkness and you can do this by reporting any suspicious activity to us by calling 101, or on 999 if you believe a crime is in progress.

Hazardous waste plant plans spark concerns as well as providing a facility “for the safe destruction of medical wastes, being the only viable treatment/disposal option for most of the waste the plant will accept.”

Some residents oppose the plans, claiming it will have a detrimental impact on people’s health and the environment and a campaign group called ‘Stop the Simonswood Incinerator’ has been formed to oppose the plan.

A resident from Ormskirk contacted the Champion and stated people in Kirkby are furious about the plans of a medical waste incinerator right on the border of their town. This is not a matter to be overlooked.

“Even more reason for concern, think about how this will affect the countryside, local farms and produce.”

Bickerstaffe Parish Council stated: “The site in Simonswood has already been developed adversely in the eyes of many residents, and further industrialised development needs to be curbed at this location.”

They also stated that “West Lancashire Borough Council is working towards zero-carbon emissions, another incinerator would increase CO2 emissions in the area.

“The carbon footprint caused by transportation of medical waste from the source would exacerbate this problem also.”

Oaktree Environmental Ltd, who have been engaged to act as consultants for Culzean W2E Limited, were contacted for comment.

Prayer vigil for peace to be held

FAITH communities in Ormskirk are gathering at Ormskirk Clock Tower on Saturday, February 26 at 6pm, to share in a short Vigil of Prayer for peace and reconciliation between Russia and Ukraine and all other nations in conflict.

They would “very much” like to encourage the people of Ormskirk, and surrounding areas, to attend this event as they unite to pray for peace in the world.

Council’s house building firm completes homes on Brierfield scheme

Report by Henry James

TAWD Valley Developments has handed over its £2.5m Brierfield scheme to residents.

The development is made up of 17 new council homes for West Lancashire Borough Council, comprising apartments and houses with associated private and communal parking and gardens for residents.

Deputy leader of the council, Councillor Yvonne Gagen and cabinet member for housing, Councillor Jenny Wilkie joined representatives from Tawd Valley Developments and contractor Whitfield and Brown to perform a ribbon-cutting ceremony to mark the official handover of the site to the council.

Councillor Wilkie said: “I’m delighted that Tawd Valley Developments have once again delivered a project on time and within budget.

“This is a considerable achievement in context of Brexit and the pandemic.

“As a council, we are delivering great homes for residents to rent.

“This way, residents get fantastic homes to live in and any profit can be put back into projects that will benefit the whole borough.”

Ian, one of the new Brierfield apartment residents said: “It’s lovely - I am very happy and grateful to have been awarded a new property. I was really surprised to find that both bedrooms are large and spacious, not what I expected.”

Mark Kitts, managing director of TVD added: “We are really pleased with the new homes at Brierfield, they are spacious, energy-efficient, built from timber frame and with dual zone heating and electric vehicle charging points.

“Each of our developments is designed to help enhance the local communities and environments in which they sit.

“This completion marks the first of three scheme completions by TVD planned for this year. We also have three new schemes on the horizon which we hope, with the necessary approvals will start on site this year.”

The site benefits from a new mews-style street off the existing Brierfield estate. The mews street will provide pedestrian, cycle and vehicular access to the homes.

The council was recently successful with a further bid to Homes England, the government’s housing accelerator, bringing the total funding secured to date to £1.4 million pounds to support the delivery of council homes in the borough by Tawd Valley Developments.

Life expectancy in Lancs fell during the pandemic

THE health and wellbeing of Lancashire's residents has been revealed in a new report - which has shown that life expectancy has fallen since the pandemic started.

The county council's Public Health Annual Report for 2021/22, produced by Dr Sakthi Karunanithi, analyses the issues affecting people's wellbeing and explains the health inequalities between different communities.

It also highlights the effects of the pandemic on people's lives and livelihoods.

Some of the main findings of the report include:

- Life expectancy has decreased overall during the last two years. Males living in the least deprived communities live 10.3 years longer than those in the most deprived. The gap is 7.8 years for females.
- The overall health and wellbeing of children in Lancashire is worse than England when comparing local data with national averages.
- The percentage of people who 'often or always' felt lonely during the pandemic in Lancashire was reported to be 6.1%. For certain districts this figure was as high as 13.5%.

Some positive issues outlined in the report include:

- Lancashire's carbon emissions reduced by more than 32% between 2005 and 2019.
- Health assessments and reviews with new mothers and babies continued throughout the pandemic, with thousands being assessed over the last two years.
- There is huge potential to increase Lancashire's economy by an estimated £8.2billion and improvements in productivity could help to achieve this.

Dr Karunanithi, director of public health, said: "Covid 19 has had a major impact on our lives and livelihoods. Continuing our response to the threat of coronavirus is crucial.

"We will continue to work closely and innovatively with our partners to recover key public health outcomes and help Lancashire residents to thrive through better life chances."

Start on plans for a third revival project

By Henry James

PLANS to start a third revival project in Skelmersdale are set to be approved at the council's budget meeting this week after all parties on the council gave the plans approval at a working group meeting.

Our West Lancashire councillor Adrian Owens welcomed the news saying: "We are pleased the council budget should at last see the first steps to the next Revival project.

"Following on from the previous revivals at Firbeck and Beechtrees, these projects make a huge difference in small localities, removing the worst housing and building new council houses that are cheaper to heat and maintain. Houses that people want to live in.

"This news of a new Revival project is a step back in the right direction."

Managing director Anne-Marie Stretch with Phil Greenough, the trust's head of hard facilities management, after planting the tree

Hospital tree to celebrate Queen's Platinum Jubilee!

SOUTHPORT and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust has joined thousands of organisations and individuals supporting Plant a Tree for Jubilee to mark the Queen's 70 years on the throne.

The Canadian Serviceberry tree, which will eventually grow up to 30ft tall, was bedded in at the entrance to Ormskirk District General Hospital by Anne-Marie Stretch, managing director of the Trust.

She said: "We're delighted to be supporting the Queen's Green Canopy initiative to mark Her Majesty's platinum jubilee - and it's a pleasure to know this tree will be providing joy, shelter and shade for generations to come."

The tree was gifted by Trust contractors EFT Construction Ltd, of Southport.

Everyone from individuals to scout and girl guiding groups, villages, cities, counties, schools and corporates have been encouraged to play a part enhancing their local area by planting trees for the jubilee year.

As well as inviting the planting of new trees, the Queen's Green Canopy will dedicate a network of 70 ancient woodlands across the UK and identify 70 ancient trees to celebrate the anniversary.

Hiker who had heart attack joins national lifesaving campaign

Report by Henry James

A DEDICATED hiker from Burscough who had a heart attack while getting checked out at Southport Hospital at age 54 has put his name to a new national lifesaving campaign.

Elliot Cosgrove, 60, is encouraging people to dial 999 when they are having early signs of a heart attack.

The campaign will tackle a number of common heart attack myths, after research identified that 70% of people in the North West thought a heart attack was the same as a cardiac arrest.

The campaign, which will run until March 31, is the first of the NHS 'Help Us Help You' campaigns specific to heart attacks.

Elliot said: "I experience what I would call indigestion. I'm at that age where I only have to look at a pie or a pasty and I get heartburn, so I didn't pay a lot of attention."

"In the end, my wife badgered me, so I went in to Southport A&E where they monitored me for a few hours and I actually ended up having a heart attack in the hospital. I remember they were coming in to give me a chest x-ray and I said 'oh, I don't feel very well', and that was it!"

"They were so great, I had the procedure done on a Friday and I was out walking the dog on Saturday afternoon. I am just so indebted to them, when you think what the outcome could have been."

"I would just say to anyone who is experiencing any symptoms at all not to ignore it, just get straight onto 999. Don't hesitate."

Speaking at the launch, NHS North West medical director, Dr David Levy said thousands of deaths could be prevented with earlier treatment if people recognise the vital signs.

He said: "It is tragic that one in four deaths in England are caused by cardiovascular disease."

"This is the single biggest area where we can save lives in the next 10 years and this new campaign is a vital step forward on that lifesaving mission."

"We need to help educate the public to recognise the symptoms of a heart attack so they are ready to help themselves, their loved ones, and indeed anyone around them experiencing a heart attack and know crucially when to seek early medical help."

"Some symptoms are not well known and many are easy to pass off as unimportant because they don't seem as severe, but it is never too early to dial 999 in this circumstance - and the faster you act, the better the chance of a full recovery."

Some of the dancers with the new kit

Dancers get sparkling new £2,500 kit!

DIVINE Days Community CIC, an organisation based in Skelmersdale, have managed to raise £2,500 with the help of the community to enable them to buy kits for their dancers.

Every week the dancers take part in inclusive rehearsals and workshops where children with additional needs and their siblings can perform together.

Some of the dancers tour and compete across the North West and watch all the other mainstream dance schools in fantastic kits. The organisers of Divine Days wanted their children to have the same opportunity, so they started a huge campaign to raise the £2,500 needed to buy the kit for all the children.

The funding was raised with the help of local residents, businesses and the parents of the children.

Katie Whitehead, founder and managing director of Divine Days Community said: "Dance kits are very expensive and have not been something many people can afford."

"Having the kits have had an incredible impact on our children they have been over the moon. It was really emotional to see everyone's reaction when they put them on."

"We can't thank everyone enough who helped make this possible. It is a huge achievement and has made a huge difference to our children and their families."

The Barn at Moor Hall awarded Michelin star

YET another accolade has come the way of Moor Hall in Aughton.

The Barn at Moor Hall has been awarded a coveted Michelin star in this year's Guide for Great Britain and Ireland.

The award celebrates the barn's culinary expertise which include its chefs choosing ingredients picked from the kitchen garden or produced within the venue's five-acre estate.

The 65-seat barn is adjacent to the main Moor Hall Restaurant with Rooms, which already boasts two Michelin stars.

In keeping with Mark and Nathan's commitment to 'sustainability and self-sufficiency', the venue also houses a small dairy, charcuterie, and meat-ageing room.

This year's Michelin Guide has also bestowed on Moor Hall Restaurant with Rooms, a Green Star accolade which recognises the practises that Mark and his team have put in place across the property to ensure the conservation of resources, where possible.

Any ingredients that can't be produced on-site or grown in the Moor Hall gardens are sourced from a network of trusted West Lancashire suppliers.

Chef Patron Mark Birchall said: "I'm extremely proud of Head Chef Nathan Cornwell and the whole team in The Barn for achieving their first Michelin star as well as everyone that's made achieving a Green Star possible. It's a great reward for Nathan and the team and I know our guests will be as thrilled as we are!"

Nathan said: "I am so proud to see The Barn win a star. As a team we've worked tirelessly to make The Barn what it is today.

Thank you to Michelin for awarding our restaurant with such a coveted accolade and to Mark who has given me the platform to achieve these goals."

Dog owners are warned to keep pets away from sheep

THE RSPCA is appealing to dog owners to keep their pets under control around sheep.

It follows an incident when two ewes which were savagely attacked by pet dogs had to be put down.

RSPCA Inspector Vicki McDonald, said: "All dog owners should always keep their dogs on a lead in and around sheep.

"Dog owners should remember it is lawful for farmers to shoot a dog to protect livestock which would be distressing for everyone involved; and owners can

RSPCA plea follows savage attack in which two ewes were killed face a police prosecution if their dog is caught worrying livestock."

Although the recent attack happened in Gtr Manchester, the incident has led the RSPCA to remind dog owners everywhere not to let their dogs distress livestock.

Farmer Rob Earnshaw, who had to put down his two sheep, says the actions of irresponsible owners needs to be highlighted. He said: "The owner would have seen this attack as it's not happened in a couple of minutes, but it would have probably lasted for 10 to 15 minutes.

"The ewes were due to lamb in April so the attack has also killed the lambs they were carrying.

"Since Covid there have been more of these incidents as more people have bought dogs and people really need to be more responsible."

Storms cause chaos across borough with power cuts and floods

Report by Henry James

THREE storms in less than a week have caused power cuts and disruption across West Lancashire.

Storm Dudley came first between February 16 and 17, then Storm Eunice on February 18, followed by Storm Franklin from February 20-21.

Storm Franklin hit West Lancashire with winds of up to 75mph and a yellow weather warning was put in place by the Met Office.

The storms caused chaos across the borough's electricity network with power cuts reported in a number of places on Monday, including in Tarleton, Scarisbrick, Newburgh, and Skelmersdale.

Stephanie Trubshaw, Electricity North West's customer director, said on Monday: "It has been an incredibly busy few days for the region given the conditions brought by Storms Dudley, Eunice and now Franklin. Each time we have managed to restore all properties before the next storm swept in."

"Unsurprisingly, the majority of power cuts have been caused by trees falling on overhead power lines and our teams are out on site now assessing the damage that has been caused and making repairs where possible."

The beer tent at the Packet House in Burscough after the storms (picture by Peter Eaton) and inset: power cables blown onto Plex Lane, in Halsall

"Because of the number of issues and the continuing winds, all our estimated times for restoration have been set between 24 and 48 hours."

The weather caused disruption as trees blocked roads, and public transport was hit by delays and cancellations.

Plex Lane in Halsall was closed on Friday after power lines came down and Ormskirk and Rural West Lancashire Police were asking people to avoid the area.

Some schools were also closed, including

Lathom High School in Skelmersdale. Lathom High posted on their Twitter page: "School is closed today (Monday, February 21.)"

"Due to the high winds, school transport is not able to run, therefore all lessons will be run remotely."

Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic Engineering College in Skelmersdale also had remote learning at home for all children on Monday. They said that due to the unsafe weather, school buses were not running.

Forecasters believe the next storm to hit the UK could be Storm Gladys, which is due to hit as soon as February 24.

Queen 'has a very special relationship with Lancashire'

CHIEFS at Lancashire County Council have paid tribute to Her Majesty The Queen, who celebrated 70 years on the throne earlier this month.

Celebrations will be taking place throughout this year, with a focal point on the extended bank holiday, from Thursday 2 to Sunday, June 5. Communities are being encouraged to come together and celebrate the historic milestone with street parties and bonfire beacons throughout the UK.

County Councillor Cosima Towneley, the council's cabinet member for children and families, remembers the Silver Jubilee in 1977 as a child aged nine.

She said: "It was terribly exciting as my father had recently been made Lord Lieutenant of Lancashire and there was a lot of activity as fund raising committees sprang into life with all sorts of events planned and, of course, a Royal visit."

"As the Queen's representative, my father met her Majesty at Lancaster and he remembers the drive to Preston, which was lined by Lancastrian well-wishers. I believe it was a stupendous welcome – it was thought a million people lined the route.

"I wonder if there is anyone out there who remembers taking part? It would be wonderful to make contact and put together a memory of the event."

She added: "The Queen has a very special relationship with Lancashire, one of her titles being Duke of Lancaster."

"I hope we will do her Platinum Jubilee year proud and duly honour the 70 years of duty and dedication Her Majesty has unstintingly given to the nation."

"I hope she enjoys her Platinum as much as she enjoyed her Silver Jubilee."

County Councillor Barrie Yates, chairman of Lancashire County Council added: "Her Majesty The Queen has dedicated her entire life to service."

"To spend 70 of those years as the monarch is truly remarkable and is a feat that I expect will never be repeated."

"The Queen is an inspiration to millions across the globe, and it is only right that we celebrate her momentous achievements this summer to show our appreciation."

Three dogs die in kennels blaze

DESPITE fire crews' best efforts, three dogs were killed after a fire broke out at a kennels in Moss Lane in Banks.

Teams from Lancashire and Merseyside Fire and Rescue Services attended Moss Lane at around 2pm on February

10 to reports of the fire. Firefighters used a triple extension ladder and thermal imaging camera.

The Squirrel group which has been launched by the 42nd Ormskirk Scouts

Scouts group opens for younger children

Squirrels group aims to get young one out and exploring world after spending half their lives in lockdown

Report by Henry James

SCOUTS in Ormskirk have started a Squirrel group for younger children.

The Squirrels group for children aged four to five is part of the 42nd Ormskirk Scouts and will meet at Trinity School, Skelmersdale on Thursdays from 5pm.

Squirrels is a new addition to the Scouts and is aimed at getting children out and exploring the world after they have spent half of their lives in lockdown.

The 42nd Ormskirk Scouts already has a cub pack and a beaver colony so it can now provide activities and skills for children and young people aged four year old to 14.5 years old.

Squirrel leader, Corinne Gibson, said: "The Squirrels are the newest part of the Scout family to help young people gain skills for life at a time when it matters the most."

"Every week, Squirrels will gather to grow and learn their way through lots of different games and activities."

"Squirrels can achieve anything they set their minds to – and they have lots of fun along the way."

"The one hour sessions will be a brilliant opportunity for young people to take their first step into being part of Scouts, and they'll help everyone get ready for the adventure of school too."

"Sessions will be packed with outdoors activities, fun, games, badges, laughter, and so much more to help our youngest members learn the skills they need for life."

"Of course, none of it would be possible without the support of the amazing leaders who plan and deliver such an inspiring programme."

National Trust group springs back into action

ORMSKIRK & District Association of National Trust Members is springing back into life with a lecture programme at a new venue, on a new day and at a new time.

The first lecture is by popular historian, Roger Mitchell on Tuesday, March 15, at the Toby Carvery at Fiveways on Southport Road in Ormskirk, starting at 2.30pm.

His subject is The Victorian Country House. More topics are planned for April and May and a holiday to Northumberland from June 5 is already booking well.

Before then is an opportunity for members to meet up again at a coffee morning to be held at Ormskirk's Emmanuel Church on the morning of Saturday, February 26 from 10-noon. Admission for hot drinks and a scone costs £3 on the door.

More officers to tackle sexual assault offences

A TOTAL of 40 extra officers will join Lancashire Police in Spring 2022 establishing a dedicated Rape and Serious Sexual Offences Team, significantly increasing the number of officers tackling this type of crime.

Funded by Police and Crime Commissioner Andrew Snowden, the new officers will join existing colleagues to bring offenders to justice and improve outcomes for victims as part of the delivery of the Commissioner's Police and Crime Plan priority of tackling sexual violence.

The new posts will be created thanks to the Police Uplift Programme as well as additional funding raised through the precept, the policing element of council tax.

Suzanne to 'strengthen the voice of nursing students'

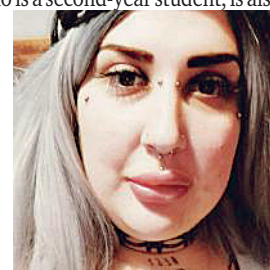

AN adult nursing student from Edge Hill University has been appointed Vice-Chair of the Royal College of Nurses (RCN) Students Committee and wants to tackle the lack of inclusivity within nursing.

Suzanne Davies, who is a second-year student, is also a representative for students on the Professional Nursing Committee. She hopes the additional position to represent nursing students nationally will enable her to raise awareness and push for a more diverse workforce.

Suzanne Davies

Suzanne said: "I am absolutely delighted. I'm a huge believer and supporter of inclusivity in the workplace and I strive to encourage the NHS to employ an inclusive workforce, which is still a prominent issue. This will help me to do that."

The RCN is the world's largest nursing union and professional body with 465,000 members. The RCN Students Committee was established to give nursing students the opportunity to have their say.

Speaker of House of Commons visits Edge Hill University

Report by Henry James

EDGE Hill University welcomed Speaker of the House of Commons, Rt Hon Sir Lindsay Hoyle, to campus for his first-hand account of life in politics.

Sir Lindsay sat down with Vice-Chancellor Dr John Cater and Politics Programme leader Paula Keaveney to answer some tough questions about his career and his role as Speaker of the House, which he described as "the best job in the world".

The Speaker shared his thoughts on Parliament's reputation, his ambitions for the North and the importance of Prime Minister's Question Time.

"What I want to do is have an easier, smoother, more respectful House of Commons. It's about respecting different peoples' views because that's what matters to me; it's about how people see the politicians.

"We should be the democracy that everybody else wants to copy, we should be the most respected democracy in the world, and I want to polish the image of Parliament; but I can only do that by better behaviour from the MPs.

"We've got to make the North the engine room of this economy once again but we've got to be one voice, one united front that stands together, then we can do it."

When asked about the current mood in Parliament and the numerous controversies surrounding Prime Minister Boris Johnson, Sir Lindsay said: "If Parliament was a volcano it would have gone off."

Sir Lindsay spoke to a group of politics students with MP Rosie Cooper, both offering some sage advice on how to break into politics and what life as a politician is really like.

BA (Hons) Politics and Criminology student Katie Taylor said: "It was great to speak to Sir Lindsay about his role as speaker.

"I was especially inspired by his pride at being from the north and his love for Lancashire."

BA (Hons) Politics and Sociology Student Thomas Jones said: "It was really interesting to find out the finer details of being the Speaker. It sounds like a tough job having to balance his responsibilities as a constituency MP as well as dealing with all the MPs and debates in parliament."

Paula Keaveney, programme leader for politics said: "It was really great to hear about Mr Speaker's work at first-hand and to understand the pressures and the pleasures of such an important job."

Families caught in the Yemen conflict need shelter urgently

There is a growing conflict and humanitarian emergency in Yemen that's been largely forgotten by the world.

Families are living in a silent crisis and more than four million people have lost their homes.

Families seeking refuge have been uprooted, often more than once, by shifting frontlines in a civil war that's dominated the country since 2014.

They've had to leave behind homes, livelihoods, possessions and loved ones.

Families are living in makeshift shelters made of sticks, palm branches, rags and anything they can find.

Some fear heavy Spring rains could trigger a repeat of the flash flooding seen in 2020 and 2021 against a backdrop of coronavirus and the spread of diseases like cholera and malaria.

Camps are overcrowded, which means diseases spread quickly.

At disaster relief charity, ShelterBox, we're about to start distributing emergency shelter in Yemen.

The water filters, mosquito nets, kitchen sets, soap, and wash basins we'll provide will help families protect themselves from diseases.

Tents will provide shelter for those sleeping in the open and tarpaulins and ropes will help families living in makeshift shelters make them more resilient to the weather.

It's possible thanks to our supporters.

To find out about our Yemen Appeal please visit the ShelterBox website - shelterbox.org.

Lucy Greenwell,

Medical waste incinerator plans must be opposed

It is no surprise that Kirkby residents are furious about the proposed plan of a medical waste incinerator right on the border of their town.

However, it is appalling the lack of concern from the borough and county councils for its own constituents and the selfishness of their actions against Kirkby and the surrounding affected areas.

This is not a matter to be overlooked.

Do not be fooled in assuming the distance is far enough away.

Are we assuming we will not be an affected area?

Are we also forgetting there are still families living in homes near the proposed facility?

Pollution does not just impact one isolated area and toxic fumes will be pumped into the air spreading around Bickerstaffe.

It is quite sinister to propose this plan close to an area that has a large elderly population and put it just far enough in the hopes locals do not notice.

Evidence shows that these facilities take a toll on respiratory health caused by air pollution exposure.

Why have they decided to place this facility just outside of an area with a high elderly population who are already vulnerable?

And the audacity to place it close to schools! Have you taken the time to look into the kinds of waste that will be burned and thought about the health & safety regulations it could be violating?

Even more reason for concern, think about how this will affect the countryside, local farms and produce.

Has there not been any thought and consideration on the implications this would have on local suppliers and their businesses?

Rightly so, Kirkby residents are furious.

We should be furious.

Object to the plans for the Stopgate Incinerator.

Concerned Resident,
Ormskirk

Some people think it's OK to litter streets

I would like to address the efforts of the council litter pickers in Skelmersdale who clean our streets of litter only for the few lazy residents who think it's acceptable to throw their fast food leftovers and other rubbish out of their car windows.

People visiting our town must think we live like hamsters and re-litter our streets every time the litter pickers clean our estates.

One last word - would it be possible for the town's taxi drivers to take their litter home instead of using the bus stops and lay-bys as rubbish bins.

Many thanks.

Andrew Johnson,
By email

Ponies should have been removed earlier from their life of suffering

Following the letter in the Champion from the RSPCA urging readers to lobby our MP to support the Animal Welfare (Sentience) Bill, it was particularly distressing to read about the Tarleton couple who severely neglected several ponies.

What is difficult to understand is why the ponies were not removed from their life of suffering, and were 'beyond saving', considering the couple 'had been given the opportunity to work with the RSPCA on previous occasions but did not seek that help'.

I thought the Animal Welfare Act 2006 enabled the police to take preventive action in cases of such extreme neglect.

Last year a new Sentencing Bill increased the maximum penalty for animal cruelty from six months to five years in prison, so it was also a shock to learn that both defendants were given a fine, a life ban and a 12 week suspended sentence, sadly, less than a person might get for fly tipping.

S Edwards,
Southport

Fine was not enough for couple's cruelty

With reference to a recent letter from in the Champion about the couple who neglected the ponies they kept.

I too was extremely distressed to read your article about the Tarleton couple who severely neglected several ponies

Why were they beyond saving? Did neighbours see them? Why didn't our police take any action?

Surely a fine wasn't enough? After watching the recent TV programme on the extreme abuse on dairy farms I am left wondering if we really are 'a nation of animals lovers.'

A Cartmell,
Southport

I'm glad that 'rat run' road is back open

I am writing in response to your article regarding the Yew Tree Road closure (Page 5, February 16 edition).

In this article you say the road was closed due to it being used as a rat run.

While many of us knew this was the real reason, let's not forget that Lancashire County Council originally used Covid and social distancing as an excuse to close it.

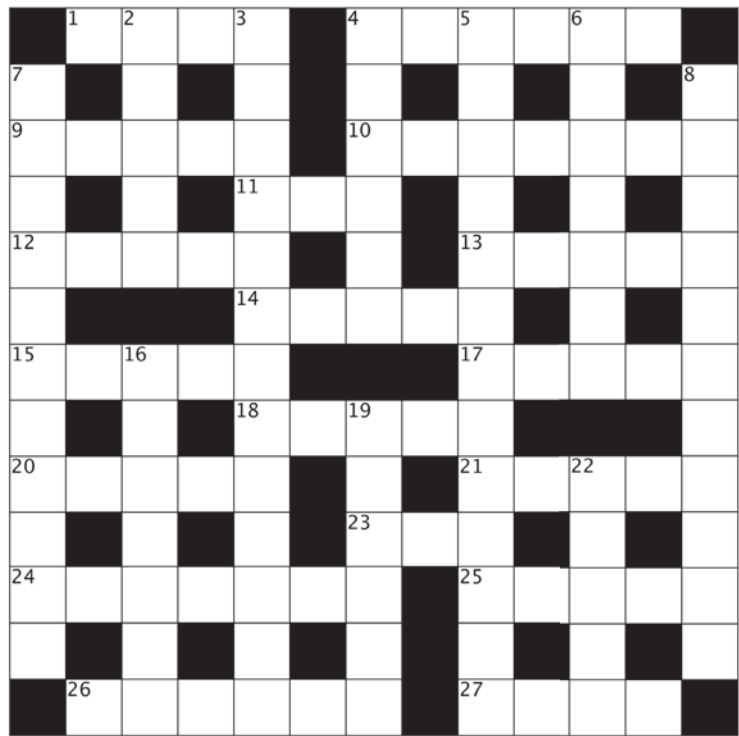

I found this to be a ridiculous excuse as the pavements are very wide on that road so there was plenty of room for social distancing anyway.

I'm glad the council is now using their common sense and will be reopening it.

Katie,
Ormskirk

Mitchley fires Skem to victory to keep pace with leaders

Striker scores brace as title race goes to final six games

Skelmersdale United 3
Barnoldswick Town 0

WITH snow falling a few hours before kick off and the majority of games in the North West Counties League falling foul of the remnants of Storm Eunice, the JMO all weather surface came in handy as United kept up their pursuit of the league title, writes Kev Panther.

It was Skelmersdale who were out of the blocks the earliest and good work down the left hand side from Alex Griffiths combining with Elliott Morris to create an early cross that found Danny Mitchley in the box and the inform striker tapped in from close range to give Skem a seventh minute lead.

It was United's 100th goal in all competitions this season.

Mitchley nearly doubled his tally with a second goal moments later. He charged down the Barnoldswick goalkeeper Jordan Gidley's clearance only to see the ball fall agonising wide of the upright.

Skelmersdale did bag a second goal on 19 minutes, a free kick on the edge of the box was charged down, the ball fell to Kenny Strickland who lofted it to the far post and there was Mitchley again to tap home.

For all the Skem offensive efforts Barnoldswick should have been back in the game on the stroke of half time when number nine Gareth Hill found space in the box, only to stumble and the effort went wide.

Skem finished the game off and made it three on 47 minutes with a beautiful move. as Elliott Morris beat his man and crossed for Howard who had the easiest of finishes to round off a top class goal. Barnoldswick made a few forays forward but anything they did throw at Skem Mike Grogan and Joe Herbert at the heart of the defence dealt with superbly.

On 80 minutes James Salkeld played a beautifully weighted pass to Danny Mitchley who was searching out the hat trick his performance so richly deserved, however he was again thwarted by Gidley.

United picked up three valuable points to keep on the tails of Macclesfield, but more importantly the win puts Skem eight points ahead of third place Wythenshawe, keeping that vital promotion play off place a fall back option if they don't succeed in catching the leaders.

Next match: Skem vs Irlam.
Saturday, February 26. Kick off 3pm.

Linnets sunk by Silkmen in blow to promotion hopes

Burscough 0
Macclesfield 4

BURSCOUGH were beaten by league leaders Macclesfield during a wet and windy afternoon, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

Macclesfield came out and had the early possession but a sound defence and home goalkeeper Joe Mason weathered that and in the space of two minutes Burscough might have taken the lead.

Former Sheffield United and Southport star Mark Duffy was the first to really threaten Burscough with a free-kick that curved just over the crossbar.

Burscough went very close. a Chris Lomax corner found the head of Mitchell Kinsella and he could count himself unfortunate to see his header go

Mitchell Kinsella slides in for Burscough to keep Macclesfield at bay inches off target.

Macclesfield took the lead on 42 minutes, the experienced Neil Dadds heading into the net off an excellent cross by James Berry from the left hand side.

Just as the half-time was expected Burscough won a free-kick and Danny Brady thundered a shot from 25 yards, it beat Macclesfield goalkeeper Dan Wallis but also the post, the latter by fractions of inches.

On 64 minutes Dadds smashed a 25 yard effort right into the top corner of the Burscough for a spectacular second goal.

Macclesfield lifted by the security their two goal lead allowed them pushed on for the kill and goals in 72 and 77 minutes did just that.

Berry notched up the third goal with a chip over keeper Mason and former Skelmersdale striker Andy Owens made it 4-0 after a precise long ball split the Burscough defence.

Next match: Burscough vs Winsford United.
Saturday, February 26. Kick off 3pm.

Who Cares? We Care!

There comes a point in our lives, generally as we get older, when most of us will come to rely on a care service program, whether for ourselves or a loved one. From home services and therapy services, to residing in a care home, fortunately we are lucky to live in communities that offer so many different options in levels of care. However, with such a vast array of choices available, it can often prove daunting and confusing when selecting which is going to be the right option for you or a close relative.

The one common goal for both the client and the professionals is to ensure that people remain as independent as they can for as long as possible. Over the next few pages the Champion offers you a choice, as well as advice of what services are out there, and what you can expect from them.

Where care is concerned, one size can never fit all!

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Understanding Care

Residential care, respite care, nursing care – what's the difference? With so many variations when it comes to the types of care on offer in care homes, it's helpful to understand what each of these terms mean if you're beginning your search.

WHAT IS NURSING CARE?

You might have heard the term 'nursing home.' Though often used quite broadly, this in fact refers to a care home that offers nursing on site – typically with Registered Nurses present 24 hours a day and additional support provided by visiting GPs. This type of care is best suited for those who require regular medical support. The best nursing care environments acknowledge that a person's medical needs are one part of their overall well-being and best complimented by other important forms of support. This might be supporting them to build and maintain relationships, keep their independence, express themselves in ways that suit them, make decisions based on their preferences, and so on.

WHAT IS RESIDENTIAL CARE?

Sometimes used as an umbrella term for all care offered to live-in residents in a care home environment, residential care is for those who would benefit from the assistance and security of living in a care home but don't need regular nursing support. In these environments, care is delivered by trained Care and Support Assistants, rather than nurses, and usually includes assistance with everyday tasks such as getting up and ready in the morning, washing and taking medication. Again, the best environments support a person's whole well-being and it's common to have various support staff dedicated to doing just that (pastoral care, activities coordinators, etc.)

WHAT IS DEMENTIA CARE?

Dementia care provides specialist support for individuals living with dementia in its various forms. Broadly speaking it can be divided into residential dementia care or nursing dementia care.

• Residential dementia care

If a person has a diagnosis of dementia but no regular nursing needs then residential dementia care may be the best fit. It's important when selecting a care home to ensure that, should the resident develop nursing needs, the provider has the capacity to meet their needs without too much upheaval, the need to move, etc.

• Nursing dementia care

If the resident living with dementia also has nursing needs then nursing dementia care will offer them the right kind of support, as nurses are available 24 hours a day. People with dementia usually require different support to those with other care needs. Though one person's experience may be very different to another's, memory loss and sensory challenges are common. The most beneficial environments support the resident as an individual, exploring their interests and what makes them tick. This knowledge can enable staff members to create plans for activities, conversations and so on that will really suit them.

WHAT IS RESPITE CARE?

When talking about the care of older people, respite care usually involves a temporary stay in a care home environment. It can offer some valuable time for primary caregivers to rest and take part in important aspects of life that might otherwise be hard to access, such as seeing friends and travelling. For the older person, the stay offers a chance to access services on offer within the home and meet potentially like-minded individuals. Respite care is common also if returning from a stay in hospital and needing support to regain confidence before moving home full-time.

Homecare, Care Homes & Assisted Living... what's the difference?

Care providers offer numerous ways that people who are growing old can be looked after with the idea being to serve each individual's personal needs and requirements and put the minds of families at ease.

However if you're just starting to look at the options available to you, it can be easy to feel a little lost in the jargon.

The main areas are Homecare, Care Homes and Assisted Living and here we're going to explore what they are and their differences so you can make more informed decisions.

Homecare

A vast majority of people requiring care later in life will start off with homecare, partly to ease the transition but also as in the early stages many people may not require full time help just yet.

Homecare then is exactly that; care you receive in your own home. Whether that's delivered by a family member or a professional, homecare provides the chance for people to remain in the comfort and familiarity of their own home while still receiving whatever help they require. In some cases that could be a carer coming in two or three times a week to assist with chores. Perhaps it is a medical professional checking in on ongoing minor medical issues or even social calls that add extra spice to later life.

Care Homes

Seen as the most natural next step, care homes generally are for people who cannot fully or partially look after themselves anymore. Round the clock care and attention may be required or even just a 24/7 watchful eye by staff to ensure a good quality of life.

Varying in price range, locations and facilities, care homes boast a social element that homecare doesn't. Being in amongst peers with activities and facilities at your disposal brings a huge amount of joy and stimulation in later life in addition to the peace of mind of having help on hand.

Assisted Living

Assisted Living or Assisted Residence has become wide-spread in recent years. If home care is the first stage and care home the third, then this one is undoubtedly the second.

Aimed at people who still have great ability to look after themselves but need some sort of care, assisted living is a way for people to continue to manage their own life with a support system behind them just in case. In addition, it brings the social aspect of care homes to your front door.

Small apartment blocks or dedicated housing estates are the most common, with managers and staff on hand in the area to administer whatever care is required. Facilities and activities may also be available here as well as communal areas and quarters for friends and families to visit and stay.

For many ageing people, isolation is a significant hurdle and assisted living combats that. An enclosed community with help on hand, this type of residential setup bridges the gap between home care and care homes and is growing in popularity as a transitional option. Residents own their own property, manage their own daily lives as they would outside of the community but still sit within a structure of care that is on hand to assist whenever necessary.

Staying at Home

Most of us wish to live independent lives, in our own homes for as long as it is possible. Yet when we do start to struggle with those daily tasks and chores, or getting from A to B, life can become both stressful and difficult.

The good news is that even if you are recovering from an illness, or a fall, or you need help with your long-term care, there are many support services available locally. By making a few changes and by learning to rely on the right services, staying at home for longer can be a reality.

Home care, also known as domiciliary care describes care services that enable you or your loved one to continue living in the place you feel most comfortable – your own home. Support can be built around your needs and routines. Care can be tailored and adapted over time to match the ever changing needs of the individual and is one of the reasons why many families are opting for domiciliary care – because it puts them back in control of the support they receive.

Regular home visits, ranging from 30 minutes through to several hours a day and night can be arranged to help you with a wide range of everyday tasks including:

- Personal and continence care
- Managing medication
- Helping to move around the home

- Household tasks and meal preparation
- Clinical care

Domiciliary care also offers a valuable source of companionship. Seeing a familiar face, whether that's daily, or a couple of times a week brings comfort, a feeling of safety and friendship and also has a positive effect on the mental health of the individual.

Loneliness

For some, being alone is a luxury. Taking the time to recharge, focus on personal projects or catch up with a favourite TV show can be a welcome break from a tiring job or busy personal life. But for many being alone all day every day is a fact of life.

According to the Campaign to End Loneliness, over a million older people in the UK are chronically lonely. But this problem doesn't just impact the elderly – 53% of 18-34 year olds also struggle with loneliness. Human beings are social creatures, and recent research has shown that feeling alone is not just upsetting – it's actually bad for our health.

For those living alone, without a support network of friends and family living close by, the home can sometimes seem like a prison. People can become socially isolated and it is easy to be left feeling alone and vulnerable. This can have an extremely negative affect on someone's physical and mental health. Day centres can play a vital role here, providing opportunities to form new friendships, as well as recreational activities and outings, helping to kick start a new social outlook.

Invite friends and family around. It is tempting to think no one wants to visit but often they will appreciate the invitation to come and spend some time with you. Sharing time to have a cup of tea or watch a TV programme together can make a real difference. So can picking up the phone and having a chat. It might not be easy to call round if you live in a rural area but a phone call can be made from anywhere and can make the difference to how isolated a person feels.

Learn to love computers and technology. This can be a great way to stay in touch with family (especially Grandchildren) and photos and videos can be shared via social media and email.

Get involved in local community activities such as a singing or walking group. Studies have shown that loneliness increases the risk of death by 10%, which is considered to be as bad as a 15-a-day smoking habit. It is also believed to exacerbate heart disease, blood clots and cancer, harms mental health and doubles the risk of developing dementia. >

Transport

In later life, being able to get out and about is a vital way to stay part of the local community and to access local amenities. Free local bus travel is a lifeline for people who do not drive but often this isn't an option for those who live in more rural locations or for others where declining mobility prevents them from using public transport due to needing extra assistance. When travelling on buses and other public transport proves too difficult, there are a number of reliable pick up services you can benefit from. These services are key in helping people remain independent and ensuring they are able to get out to the shops, attend appointments and travel to their day care centres.

Not all Residential Care Homes are the same...

Are you concerned that, despite your best efforts, one of the people closest to you needs more support to safely live their best life?

Grants for home adaptations

Being able to live at home independently for as long as possible is something that we all want but if you're not able to enjoy your home, this can affect you in many ways. If you are having difficulty accessing your home, can't manage the stairs or take a bath, you may benefit from having your home adapted.

West Lancashire Borough Council offers disabled facilities grants that can be used to pay for adaptations such as ramps, stairlifts and level access showers.

To qualify for a grant you must be aged over 19 and be a home-owner, private tenant or housing association tenant and live in West Lancashire.

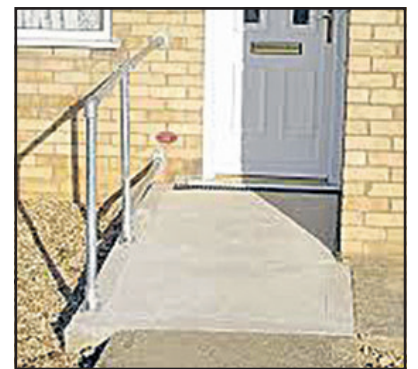

You must also be disabled or have a long-term health condition that restricts your ability to carry out basic daily tasks such as bathing or getting up and down the stairs. An occupational therapist or trusted assessor will be asked to assess you in your home to determine the type of adaptations that you need.

The grants are usually means tested but this is currently being waived so no financial assessments will be carried out. You will only be assessed based on your need for an adaptation.

■ For more information contact the Housing Adaptation Team on 01695 585232.

■ Adaptations for West Lancashire Borough Council tenants are dealt with separately. Contact the Property Services Team by email at property.serviceshousing@westlancls.gov.uk or ring on 01695 585292.

■ Disabled facilities grants are also available for children. Referrals for a grant must come from a paediatric occupational therapist. If you do not have an occupational therapist, contact Lancashire County Council on 0300 123 6720 or speak to your GP.

Adapting your Home and Mobility

Sometimes with age, illness or after an accident, mobility can become a major concern and it may become more difficult to move around the home. Home adaptations are changes you can make to your home that are designed to make it safer and easier to move around and do everyday tasks.

If you're struggling with the stairs, getting out of bed or taking a bath or a shower, these things need not pose the problems they sometimes do thanks to an array of solutions available. It is possible to adapt your home so that it better suits your needs.

If you are a wheelchair user then doorways can be widened and access to your property can be made easier with ramps, hand rails, better outdoor lighting and intercom systems for answering the door. Kitchen worktops can be lowered to help you retain your independence in the kitchen.

Do you struggle getting up out of bed or a chair? The installation of grab rails as well as leg lifter straps will help with this. Riser and recliner chairs are an extremely popular furniture choice for the elderly as they allow for increased independence, mobility and comfort. Able to be adjusted for sitting, standing and reclining, riser and recliner chairs allow for bespoke comfort at the push of a button.

You can have a second bannister fitted to help you with the stairs, or even have a stair lift or wheelchair lift installed. Bathrooms can also be adapted in many ways with the installation of hoists or bath lifts, specially adapted showers and wet rooms.

If you, or someone you know needs help to do everyday tasks or you're worried about falling, speak to social services and ask for a home assessment.

GET HELP WITH COSTS OF HOME ADAPTATIONS

Many small adaptations are often free. Your local social services should pay for each adaptation that costs less than £1,000. This usually includes things such as :

- Grab rails
- A concrete ramp or steps
- Automatic lighting that come on when someone is at your front door

You might be able to get help with costs for more expensive adaptations such as the installation of a wet room or the widening of doors around the home. You can try to get a grant from the following:

DISABLED FACILITIES GRANT

You can apply to your local council for a disabled facilities grant. The grant helps you adapt your home to make it suitable for a disabled person. They will arrange for an occupational therapist to visit you so they can assess your circumstances and see what changes you need.

INDEPENDENCE AT HOME'S GRANTS

Independence at Home is a charity that provides grants to people of all ages who have a physical or learning disability or long term illness and who are in financial need. This financial help enables them to obtain mobility and disability equipment, home adaptations and other essential items to make an immediate, practical and positive effect on daily life at home.

Final Arrangements

When a friend or loved one dies, or death is expected to take place soon, there are many details to take care of. This can obviously be a very stressful time. You are grieving and may have to assume a great responsibility by taking on the task of making funeral arrangements for someone you care about.

HOW TO MAKE FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS WHEN SOMEONE HAS DIED

Make "First Calls"

Make the "first calls" to notify the appropriate parties and have the deceased removed from the place of death.

Confirm Deceased Transportation

The First Call results in an initial transfer of the deceased from the place of death to a funeral home or other facility.

Look for Pre-Arrangements

Determine if the deceased left behind a pre-arranged funeral plan. A pre-arranged plan generally specifies the funeral service provider that the deceased selected.

Arrange for Funeral Services

Meet with a funeral director to make arrangements for the funeral services. During the meeting, you will discuss how the deceased will be cared for, whether you will have a burial or cremation, and what type of ceremony will be held.

A funeral director's responsibility is to ensure that a funeral meets the wishes of the family and of the deceased. He or she will ensure that the funeral is appropriate, dignified and carried out in a respectful, professional manner. They will also ensure that each element of the funeral complies with the law. At the time of loss, the funeral director will also be on hand to help with the many practicalities that a funeral demands. For example, they may assist in moving the deceased to their premises, provide facilities to view the person who has died, order floral tributes, help you arrange a time and date for the funeral, ensure all paperwork is correct and in place, offer coffins to suit your budget, arrange music and provide appropriate cars and staff on the day.

In short, a good funeral director will ensure the funeral is handled with total dignity and make it an occasion in keeping with the wishes of the deceased and his or her relatives.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

COULTON WILLIAM "BILL"

Lena and family would like to express their sincere thanks to all relatives, friends and neighbours for their kindness, sympathy, cards of condolence, flowers and generous donations following the sad loss of a much loved Husband and Dad.

Special thanks to all those who cared for Bill at the NHS, including Tarleton Group Practice, Southport Hospital and all the nursing teams. Thanks also to everyone at Queenscourt Hospice.

Thank you to Ken Howles for the lovely service and to all who attended the funeral.

Finally, thank you to Neal Buckley Funerals and staff for their professional and dignified arrangements.

DEATHS

RAY RUTTER

In Memory of my Husband Ray

To my ever loving husband Ray. I am so very sad that your time came to go to heaven, but I feel you are still near to me and always will be. This is a great comfort to me.

I miss you so much but one day I will join you. I will love you forever.
Cath

Champion MOTORS

The new ID-Buzz is 'gramtastic!

The new VW ID-Buzz is inspired by the classic VW camper vans

IT WON'T matter how much of your clobber VW's new load-lugger can swallow, how well it handles or how long it takes to charge up. The new ID-Buzz doesn't have to worry about any of that, because it's 'gramtastic.

As in it'll work a treat on Instagram which – and forgive me if I'm about to make myself sound about 400 years old – is a social media app where people upload pictures of things, and themselves in front of or enjoying said things, for your online approval. I've got an Instagram account which is full of Morris Minors and Jaguar Mk2s that I've seen at classic car shows, but they'll never be 'gramtastic because they have to compete with selfies of models posing next to Bugatti Chirons. Unless your car is extraordinarily fast, rare or has Kylie Jenner standing next to it, forget it.

Unless, of course, you buy a VW ID-Buzz. You'd think this is off to a bad start because it's been hawked around motor shows since 2017 and is therefore a million years old in Instagram terms, but in fact it's perfect for people living their best life. This is largely because VW's commercial vehicles division has made no secret of the fact that it's basically tried to reimagine the T1 Bulli of the late 1940s – the basis of the much-vaunted VW camper van – in all-electric form. Not only are the proportions all but identical, but it's even gone for the same hippie-friendly two-tone paint job too. In fact, I reckon it's only modern pedestrian safety legislation that's stopped them mounting the spare wheel up front. Far out, man!

It's worth pointing out that as it's equipped with a 150kW electric motor that sends all its oomph instantaneously to the rear wheels, and it's limited by electronic trickery to 90mph, it should be a damn sight quicker off the line than the old VW campers, and with an 11-metre turning circle it should feel considerably more

with

www.lifeoncars.co.uk

nimble too, but that won't matter one jot to the 'grammers.

It's irrelevant too that you'll be able to order it in five-seater form, making it a theoretical competitor to Citroën's new e-Berlingo and Ford's Tourneo Connect, only draped in far prettier clothing. Nope, I'll know the ID-Buzz has truly arrived when someone orders the van version, kits it out with antique furniture they found in a charity shop and some hastily knocked-up carpentry, and pronounces it their #vanlife project. Not until I see an 18-year-old couple with hairdos straight off the set of Hollyoaks using one for a life-affirming tour of all of the UK's micropubs, funded ostensibly by Instagram product placement but more likely their parents' bank accounts, will I know that the ID-Buzz has truly established itself. I cannot think of a single car that's better conceived for garnering 'gram likes.

Right now the final pre-production versions are on a fact-finding tour of Europe ahead of the model being officially launched later this year. Let VW know you're interested by popping into your nearest dealer – or better yet, drop 'em a like on their Instagram account.

PRICES for the new Mazda2 will kick off at £20,300 when it arrives here in May. The five-door supermini is available to order now and is being offered with three trim levels, all of which use the company's 1.5-litre petrol engine beneath the bonnet. It uses hybrid technology to start up in electric-only mode, but switches between petrol and electric depending on the conditions. Head to www.mazda.co.uk to find out more.
